So the opinion of the chair was sustained.

On motion of Mr. Le Grand,

The house adjourned until Monday morning 10 o'clock.

MONDAY, February 10th, 1840.

The house met. Present the same members as on Saturday. The proceedings of Saturday were read.

Mr. Tuck rose and offered to submit a motion proposing to amend the journal of Saturday's proceedings by inserting thereon several motions that were offered to be submitted on that day, which motions the speaker had decided could not be entertained as being against order.

The speaker decided that the above motion of Mr. Tuck was not in order.

Mr. Bowie then rose and offered to submit a motion to the effect that the journal of Saturday's proceedings should be amended so as to set forth at length the same matter embraced by the motion which he had offered to submit on Saturday.

The speaker decided that the motion now submitted is not in order in as much as at it proposed to insert upon the journal subject matter which the house had by its vote on Saturday refused to permit to be placed on its journal;

From which decision Mr. Bowie appealed;

And on the question being put: shall the opinion of the chair stand as the judgment of the house?

Mr. Keppler moved the previous question, and on the same being put,

On motion of Mr. Bowie,

The yeas and nays were required and appear as follows:
